BIOGRAPHY

Artist story + short-form bios for press, websites, bookings and media use

ANGIE STARRZ is a Brooklyn-rooted Latina MC, songwriter, broadcaster and media entrepreneur whose career has expanded from independent hip-hop into radio, podcasting, artist advocacy and faith-centered storytelling.

Raised out of Sunset Park, Brooklyn, Angie built her early identity around independent music, lyricism and direct connection with listeners. Public music credits trace back at least to “Wink” (2016), followed by the hip-hop single “Ehh Ahh,” collaborations including “Like That” with GQdaembassy and “Es Pasión” with Derrick T. Lewis, and the deeply personal “Oui à la Vie.” Her work has consistently connected performance with message — from street-level hip-hop storytelling to records and broadcasts centered on perseverance, purpose and faith.

Over time, Angie evolved from recording artist to interviewer, radio personality and media operator. She has hosted and contributed to programming across the Angie Starrz Talk Show, POWER 102.8 Los Angeles, YOLO Magazine Podcast, RAP GODDESS and 99.7 DA HEAT Miami. Through Royal Starrz Entertainment, she and BX Sparks have developed music, podcast and event-oriented media initiatives focused on independent creators.

Her current flagship, Redemption Radio, places faith, testimony and independent music at the center. Angie and BX Sparks host the program with a mix of interviews, uplifting music, real-life conversation, ministry and opportunities for emerging artists and local businesses. On September 26, 2026, Redemption Radio marked its 50th episode — a milestone that reflects the show’s transition from talk-radio roots into a purpose-led media platform.
